OBJECTION to IMMUNIZATIONS

Immunizations are required for children against certain diseases when they enroll in school. At the time of enrollment the parent or guardian must show proof that immunizations have been received as required or that a religious or medical objection to immunizations is on file with the school.

Indiana law, Code 20-8.1-7, provides for only two exemptions from immunizations:

Religious Objection: A religious objection must be made in writing, signed by the parent or guardian, and must state that the objection is based on "religious grounds". Each objected immunization must be specified. In order for a child to be exempted from complying with minimum immunization requirements for religious objection, the parent or guardian is required to resubmit a written request to the school each year.

Medical Exemption: A medical exemption is a physician's certification that a particular immunization is detrimental to the child's health. An exemption for a child's health must be a written note signed by your physician or health care provider and submitted each school year.

PLEASE NOTE: Indiana law allows only religious and medical exemptions.

Parental or medical exemptions do not relieve parents from the responsibility of reporting a record or immunizations that have already been given.
